

Award Guidelines

1. They volunteer in the community (10 Points)

Seniors have a reputation for being reliable and skilled volunteers in their community, helping others, their families, volunteering in schools, churches, hospitals, with fund raisers. These are just a few examples of the many fine ways seniors volunteer their time helping others.

2. They share their knowledge with others (10 Points)

Senior citizens have a lifetime of knowledge and those who share it in helpful, creative, and inspirational ways are truly outstanding seniors.

3. They promote an active lifestyle and are passionate about what they do. (10 Points)

Sometimes it isn't enough just to do things. Passion is contagious and there are active seniors with passion in Fairfield County. Inspiring others is indeed worthy of an outstanding senior award.

4. They smile and they spread the joy of helping others (10 Points)

A senior can be an advocate, a volunteer, a fountain of knowledge and have tons of passion. But the single, most important criteria for being a truly outstanding senior is to be genuinely warm and generous of spirit.

5. They are active advocates for seniors and others (10 Points)

There are many professionals in the field, but outstanding seniors take it upon themselves to speak out for their fellow seniors and others in need.
